

Do you repair laptops?

Hardware problems on laptops have to go back to the manufacturer since all their parts are different. I will work on software problems if asked but I shy away from laptops simply because every one is different and there are no "rules" regarding the way they are put together and operate.